Letter No. 617 dated 4th d. 29th Nov. 98 from the Insp. General of Prisons

Docket No. 617 dated 16th January 99 from the Supdt. Govt Press.

In the foregoing papers recommendations are made for the grant of pension or gratuity to the families of public servants certain persons who died suddenly of Plague.

Art 732 of the Mysore Service Regulations discourages recommendations for the grant of pensions to the families of public servants. But when a public servant is killed in the execution of his duty, a pension to his family is provided for in Art. 374. A pension was accordingly given in the case of a Policeman

The Plague Commissioner is of opinion that the officials in question cannot be said to have died of Plague
"while on duty", the expression
"dying in the discharge of duty" being applicable only to instances such as a Constable on Plague or Cholera duty dying from the particular disease, or of a Policeman chasing daccits being shot down by them. The Plague Comr. thinks the cases in question must be dealt with on their merits. All the men having apparently earned their pension while carried off by plague, a bonus may be given to their families at the discretion of the Govt., but the question must be dealt with on general considerations and not from the point of view of death while in the discharge of duty.

If, as above suggested, the death of the individuals in question cannot be considered as having taken place while in the discharge of duty, then Art.374 does not apply.

There are no rules in the Service Regulations providing for the grant of pensions or gratui-ties when death takes place before actual retirement. Please see the two cases put up herewith in which public servants died after long service but before actual retirement, and Govt. found it impossible to do any thing for their families under the existing rules.

Tholasinga Mudaliar, late Hd. Clerk, Govt. Press, who died after more than 30 years service.

It would not be conve-nient to give special sanction in the particular cases now in question as a good many more cases may come up, several officials of the superior and inferior grades having died during the plague. If the rule which is under the consideration of Govt. regarding the grant of a gratuity to the families of public servants dying either before or shortly after retirement on pension, be brought into force, it will provide for all the hard cases like these now under consideration.

A + A-35-94 Office Note

Letter No. 151/123 d: 13/8/01 from the Deputy Commissioner Shimoga Dt.

In the above letter, the Deputy Commissioner reports that one Hanumanta a peon attached to the Local Fund Branch of his office was told off for plague duty on the 27th September 1900, that while employed in the plague camp, he caught plague on the 9th October and died on the 16th idem. He requests that in these circumstances Govt. may be pleased to extend the concession shown under G. Pro: No. 13518-27/PH 1266 d: 1-4-01 to policemen dying of plague, to his case as well and a pension granted to the surviving widow.

2. As a general rule no claim to pension by a widow on account of the services rendered by her husband is admissible (art 232.(a)). But under very extraordinary circumstances such as those contemplated in arts. 372 and 373 of the Myore Service Regulations, an extraordinary pension is granted to the family of a man killed. To entitle the family to such a pension, death should have been caused in the execution of a public duty (372 (a) ii) and the duty should be of such a nature as is attended with extraordinary bodily risk. (art 373). On the analogy of the Secy of State's ruling which is being followed in the the Board M. Station, Bangalore, the concession of these two articles was extended to policemen dying of plague while on public duty (Govt. Rev. 1351 P-27 d: 11/4/01 P&A 1266).

In the present case, the Deputy Commissioner requests that this concession shown to Policemen may be extended to the case of Hanumanta (his office peon) on special plague duty.

3. Recommendations for extraordinary pensions recd. on behalf of the families of the marginally noted × Public Servants (other than policemen) are put up together with the connected papers, for reference. Sheik Mohmad (No. 1) took ill while on duty in the jail, was sent home and died sometime after. Gopali (No. 2) was removed from Service on 14/10/98. He caught plague, removed to plague camp on 18-12-98 and died on 25/12/98. Mohideen (No 3) was removed from Service on 8/10/98. He caught plague on 11-10-98 and died on 12-10-98. The Plague Commissioner who was consulted, was of opinion that these officials could not be said to have died of plague while on duty, the expression dying in the discharge of duty" being applicable only to instances such as a constable on plague or cholera duty dying from the particular disease or of a policeman chasing dacoits being shot down by them. The recommendations were not accordingly approved.

A+A With reference to the above recommendation, the Deputy Commissioner was requested to report as to (1) why the peon attached to the Local Fund Branch of his office was deputed for plague duty;

(2) Whether the deceased offered to take up the duty in consideration of increased rate of pay or allowances or whether he was compelled to take up the work and if so by whom

(3) What was his pay in the Local Fund Branch and in the Plague camp respectively.

In reply, the Deputy Commissioner has reported as follows:—

To query (1)

Though the peon was

was borne on the staff of the Dr Local Fund Branch, he was doing duty in the conservancy of the Shimla Town Municipality, whence he was despatched for plague duty, as being a useful servant who was able to read, write and keep accounts.

To query No (2).

He appears to have gone to work in the plague camp in obedience to the orders of his superiors.
and he had no increase of pay while so employed.

To query No 3

His pay as Local having been granted to him.

Rec'd Connection.

The benefit of this article was officially extended to Policemen by a Resolution of Council based upon a despatch from the Secretary of State for India. It seems undesirable to extend it so as to make it applicable to officials borne on the Municipal and other Establishments. The present case may be a hard one but any special consideration shown to it is sure to be brought forward as a precedent in other similar cases. Where are we to stop? Plague has become almost chronic in Mysore and nearly every officer is contributing his share of employed in connection therewith. There is a question of principle involved. Plague Inspectors & the Servant

Must be given an officer whose employment on such duty was unauthorized. Moreover if any pension ordinary duty with the risk attendant upon its discharge was employment in connection with Plague, it was that of a Head or 2. In different where there is the case for special treatment in this case? I do not grudge the poor man's family a small compensation but I am afraid that any concession shown in this case would lead to a flood of claims from families [illegible] circumstances.

Sir, I have the honor to forward herewith a petition received from the heirs of deceased Shaik Mahamood late deputy Chief Warder of this Jail for your favorable consideration and support, and recommending the same, I beg to point out that the man may be justly supposed to have died on duty as he took ill while on duty in the Jail & was sent home, and from this illness he succumbed. In this view I beg to support the application of the heirs who are his wife and a minor son and who from enquiries, are, I am assured left entirely destitute. His case might also be viewed in the light that, he being a Government Servant was obliged to live in the Pettah in order to attend his duties in the Jail, and but for which he would in all probability have left the place with his family and thus avoided the risk he was obliged to run, in living in that infected area. He was an old Servant of Government having a Service of 32 years.

(Enclosure C), but he never presented himself for such examination, as he ran away from Bangalore owing to the Plague. Mohadin having presented his application for retirement on the 8th October 1898, was to be sent to the Medical examination on the 10th idem, 9th being Sunday, reported on the 10th that he was laid up and was not able to attend office. Thus neither of them underwent examination.

3 They were actually relieved from work from the dates of their application for retirement, but it will be noted that none of them was able to present himself for examination nor waited for the result

4 It is said that Gopali returned to Bangalore with a view of undergoing examination but was attacked with Plague and was removed to the Plague Camp on the 18th December 1898 and died on the 25th idem (Enclosure D) — it is not known whether he was ailing or otherwise during the interim - i-e from 17th October to 18th December 1898. Mohadin was attacked with Plague on the 11th October 1898 and died the day following (Enclosure E).

5 Gopali was a Piece Work Machine Feeder - His average salary amounted to Rupees 11/-. He having worked continuously upwards of 15 years in turning the machine - a most laborious work - premature oldage and unfitness were induced by the nature of his laborious work and he was becoming infirm therefrom. Sir,

With reference to your docket No. 9019/603 of the 19th December ultimo forwarding a petition from the widow of late Duffedar Mysore Govt. Press, and requesting my opinion as to whether the petitioner could be helped by substituting a gratuity for pension, I have the honor to state that the rules do not provide for such a substitution in the case of inferior servants who have put in a service of not less than 30 years, & who are therefore entitled to pension.

Further Article 318 of the M. S. Regulations distinctly lays down that an officer entitled to pension may

may not take a patent instead.

I remain returned.

Sir,

I have the honor to state that a boy attached to the Local Fund Branch of this office by name Hanumanta was laid off for Plague duty on the 27th September 1900. He was in attendance in the Plague camp at Shegaon and while so employed got an attack of Plague on the 9th October and died on the 16th idem. His case would seem to fall under sections 372 (a) (11) and Section 374 of the Civil Service Regulations which provide for a pension to the family of a man killed in the Execution of a public duty. The deceased leaves a widow behind him. Government have in their Proceedings no. 13578-27 / Post 1266 of 14th April last ruled that the benefit of these sections should be extended to Policemen who die of Plague contracted in the Execution of their duties in Plague-stricken localities. The case of the deceased Hanmanta being precisely similar, I venture to request that Government may be pleased to extend a like indul-gence to his case, especially as such a measure would en-courage this class of servants to discharge public duties attended

The widow owns no property and depends for her and her child's maintenance on the charity of her acquaintances.

The deceased was a Constable of the Jelahanka Gate Station. Plague was raging in Ward No III. The Constable had to move about several infected houses as they were all locked up and their safety had to be ensured and he might have therefore caught the infection while beating about the infected houses. He had the attack while on duty.

Lives on the charity of her acquaintances, has no means of livelihood and no property at all.

Sanjeevamma has no other means of livelihood. The deceased was a Constable of the High Ground Station. There was plague in Doblospette when the High Ground Police were also made to do the duty of guarding infected houses. Besides, he was carrying tapals to and from the Camp and through infected places.

The boy is under the protection of his mother, who earns by cooly and owns no property.

The Constable was on plague duty in the Magadi Road Segregation Camp. Being employed to watch plague patients he might have caught infection there.
